

Welcome New Board Members!

Carol Hoskins Adams

Edward C. Radin

David A. Still

Kim VanGelder

Spring is time for new beginnings at Rochester Area Community Foundation.

Jill Cicero has succeeded Ted Boucher as chair of the board of directors. Jill is an attorney who founded the firm Jill M. Cicero & Associates in 1990, practicing in the areas of estate planning, trust and estate administration and related gift and estate tax matters. In January, she was honored by the state Bar Association with the 2009 Attorney Professionalism Award.

We are also pleased to introduce four new members of the Community Foundation's board of directors.

As dean of interdisciplinary programs at Monroe Community College, Carol Hoskins Adams is responsible for all aspects of course offerings in English for Speakers of Other Languages, foreign languages, writing across the curriculum, transitional studies, college orientation and academic support services.

She has a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Michigan State University and a master's degree in education from Queens College. Carol is president of Rochester's chapter of The Links, Inc. and has served on the board of Planned Parenthood of the Rochester/Syracuse Region, the University of Rochester's Youth and Family Project advisory board and the program steering committee for United Way's African-American Leadership Program.

Edward C. Radin is managing partner of the law firm Chamberlain D'Amanda, where his practice focuses on advising clients on business and estate plans.

A graduate of Fordham University and St. John's University Law School, Ed serves on the boards of Children Awaiting Parents and Catholic Charities of Wayne County and on the advisory board of the Al Sigl Center. Previously, he held leadership roles with the Golisano Children's Hospital at Strong, Association for the Blind and Visually Impaired of Greater Rochester Inc., Myers Community Hospital, the Williamson Planning Board and the Community Foundation's Wayne County Community Endowment Advisory Board.

David A. Still is managing director of Fishers Asset Management, the B. Thomas Golisano family office. He previously worked for Chase Manhattan Bank, Chase Manhattan Corp. and Barclays Bank, in addition to serving as the financial advisor and manager for the H.J. Heinz II family.

David, who received his bachelor's degree and MBA from the University of Pittsburgh, is a trustee for the Rochester Presbyterian Home Foundation and has served on the Community Foundation's Investment Committee since 2006. Previously, he was a trustee for Compeer International Inc. and director of the Youth Developmental League of the Pittsford Mustangs Soccer Club.

Kim VanGelder is chief information officer and vice president at Eastman Kodak Co. A graduate of Rochester Institute of Technology, she joined Kodak in 1984 and worked in a variety of information technology roles, from leading the corporate group that defined Kodak's global IT architecture and standards to overseeing all aspects of IT for worldwide Research & Development. Kim is a member of the Dean's Council at RIT's Golisano College and the College at Brockport Advisory Council.

We also thank retiring directors Carlos Garcia, Barbara Jones and Phil Yawman for their many years of dedicated service to the board and committees that were the direct beneficiaries of their wonderful community knowledge and thoughtful leadership.